

30-year-old David Cranmer of London is an artist in the true sense of the word. He combines a wealth of ideas, design, sounds and performance into works of art. Take the Pyramid Synth, for example. He created two analog synths with the characteristic appearance of egyptian mausoleums in cooperation with Peter Fowler. But he's also been working on a large modular system on his own for several years ...

For additional information, see:

- <http://www.nervoussquirrel.com/about.html>
- <http://www.nervoussquirrel.com/pyramidsynth.html>